Remains Brought to Lexington.

The remains of Mrs. Katharine Bonney, who died at St. Louis on Thursday last, were brought to Lexington Monday night and were taken to the home of Mrs. Margaret McIntyre. The funeral took place from the home of Mrs. McIntyre Tuesday.

Mrs. Bonney was a resident of Richmond for a number of years before going to St. Louis. She was about 63 years of age and her last illness was of about three weeks duration. Her husband was buried here and her remains were brought here to be laid beside those of Mr. Bonney.

Flot the Lee.

Captain Enoch P. King died Sunday of old age. He was one of the oldest river men in St. Louis. For forty years he was a familiar figure on deck and in the pilot house of Mississippi river steamboats. At the time of the famous race between the Robert E. Lee and the Natchez he piloted the Lee from Memphis to St. Louis. There was a heavy fog and the captain wanted to stop the boat till it disappeared, but King insisted that he knew the river perfectly and the boat went on, winning the race.

Died at Hall's Station.

Geo. Riley died at his home at Hall's station at 6 o'clock Tuesday morning, after an illness of about six weeks. Deceased was 42 years of age and had been a resident of Lafayette county for a number of years. He had resided at Hall's Station for the past two years.

Mr. Riley leaves a family. He was a brother to Mat Riley and a brother-in-law to Mrs. C. H. Baird, both of Lexington. He was a good citizen and his death is greatly deplored.

The funeral took place at Waverly on Wednesday, the service having been conducted by the Rev. J. C. Given, of Lexington.

Old Citizen Dead.

Gill Eve Helles, one of Lafayette county's oldest citizens, died at his home in Mayview Monday night. Deceased was about 73 years of age. The funeral took place from the Mayview Baptist church Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

The transfer company keeps a call book at the Mammoth livery stable, and on at the Grand Central hotel. Leave orders at these places.

Is the World Outgrow- ing the Bible?

By REV. JAMES M. GRAY, D.D.
Noted Bible Lecturer, of Boston.

ANY are asking the question: "Is the World Outgrowing the Bible?" the answer to which depends almost entirely on one's point of view. It is easy to answer it in the negative, for the Bible is to-day the most popular book in the world. Trilby, Ben Hur, Richard Carvel, Uncle Tom's Cabin, and all the rest, are not to be compared with it. The taste for such books is capricious, and the favorite to-day is a dead-weight on the booksellers' shelves to-morrow; but the Bible, like Tennyson's book, keeps on forever.

The novel finds favor in a single land, or at the most in two or three lands, BUT THE BIBLE IS TRANSLATED INTO MORE TONGUES THAN ONE CAN REMEMBER OR ENUMERATE.

AND THEN THERE WERE NEVER SO MANY PEOPLE REALLY AND DEVOTEDLY STUDYING THE BIBLE, AND SEEKING TO OBEY ITS PRECEPTS AS TO-DAY. When has the history of the Christian church ever known so many Bible "helps," Bible institutes, Bible teachers, Bible classes and Bible conferences as now? The Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Associations, and the Christian Endeavor Societies all over the world are emphasizing the need of Bible study and making it increasingly attractive. It is being taught in our colleges, and a class of men, in some cases superseding the old-time evangelists, are resigning lucrative and influential pastorates and going up and down the world expounding its contents to the largest religious assemblies of the day.

Moreover, THERE NEVER WAS AN AGE WHICH HAS CONTRIBUTED SO MUCH TO CONFIRM FAITH IN THE ABSOLUTE ACCURACY OF THE BIBLE. Modern research in Bible lands, the work chiefly of the pickaxe and the spade, has entirely changed the character of the conflict about the Bible, so that an English writer of repute seems justified in the remark that it is no longer a conflict between faith and unbelief, but between science on the one hand and vainglorious scholasticism on the other.

BUT THE WORLD IS OUTGROWING THE BIBLE FOR ALL THAT. Heathenism continues to multiply more rapidly than Christianity, even counting as Christianity that superficial thing which so often goes by its name. The claims of Foreign Missions upon Christian men of wealth are diminishing rather than increasing in weight. Secular education receives its millions, while the Gospel of the Son of God still waits like Lazarus at the rich man's gate. With all the current knowledge of the Bible and the boasted acceptance of its principles, its influence is not strong enough among the Christian nations to stop war or dissuade them from increasing their military armament. The attacks on the Bible were never more subtle or virulent than to-day, and unlike those of preceding days arise in great measure from its professed friends. THE "SCIENTIFIC METHOD" OF CRITICISM, it has been truly said, IS DESTROYING FAITH MORE RAPIDLY THAN THE PREACHING OF THE GOSPEL IS CREATING IT.

But all this is really aside. The question is not to be determined by what anyone sees, or thinks he sees, in the religious horizon of the world, but by what the Bible itself says. Jesus Christ pertinently asks: "When the Son of Man cometh shall He find the faith on the earth?" justifying the inference that at His return to this earth there will be little of it comparatively to be found. The inspired Paul tells us that in the latter times of this present age men shall depart from the faith through the acceptance of false faiths; while Daniel, the prophet, describing the Christian nations of Europe at the same period, likens them in character to a terrible beast which, however, shall be burned, and its body given to the flames.

This relieves the outlook from despair. The Bible is God's Word, and shall prevail; but its day of power is associated with the coming of the Lord. This is not a fancy but a fact. It is not a figure of speech but an historical occurrence. When the world shall have so far outgrown the Bible as that the personal anti-Christ shall have been received in place of the personal Christ, it will be time for Him to work. And He will work. His word shall not return unto Him void. The judgments of which it speaks will fall on the iniquitous nations of the earth, and the kingdoms of this world will become the Kingdom of our God and of His Christ.

James M. Gray

It is encouraging to note that the people of the United States are becoming more and more sensible of the value of foreign trade and the importance of intelligent and well-directed efforts for its expansion.

INCREASE OF PUBLIC INTEREST IN FOREIGN TRADE

By FREDERICK EMORY,
Chief, Bureau of Foreign Commerce, State Dept.

The growth of popular comprehension and approval is illustrated not only by the establishment of commercial museums, the organization of export associations, the demand for the creation of a separate department of the Federal Government having special charge of industry and commerce, and for the improvement of the consular service as an agency of commercial expansion, but also BY THE FACT THAT OUR EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS, ONE AFTER ANOTHER, ARE RAPIDLY ADOPTING COMMERCIAL INSTRUCTION AS AN IMPORTANT FEATURE OF THEIR WORK. Even the ordinary high schools are engrafting commercial geography upon their courses, and during the past year, the Bureau of Foreign Commerce has received applications from teachers and scholars in many parts of the country for copies of monthly and other consular reports as aids in this branch of study.

The requests for information as to trade conditions in foreign countries from manufacturers and exporters have multiplied rapidly, and it may now be said that there is hardly an important business concern in the United States having a present or prospective interest in foreign trade which does not avail itself of the data furnished by the consular service.
